The temperature is hot in July, but the atmosphere in Taipei Toastmaster is even hotter. Today, we have 2 new members joining us. Andy is a college student who is a talented speaker in Mandarin and eager to make progress in English speaking. Peter has retired from his job and starting a new business of his own and he is also an experienced Toastmaster in Japanese Club. Welcome!!

The first speaker, Ellen, delivered her C3 speech entitled "To define is to limit". She shared her experience of applying for Graduate Institute of Translation and Interpretation in NTNU, which only 10% applicants are accepted and no one had passed in FJU. Ellen was not limited by the label on her and fought for her dream. Finally, she became the first one passed in FJU. She gave us an encouraging conclusion: Don't let people define you. Fight for your dreams.

The second speaker, Mark, delivered his C2 speech entitled "My exchange life". He shared his experience as an exchange student in Netherland. Out of everyone's expectation, he shared how he explored Europe instead of how hard he studied. He showed a lot of beautiful pictures of Europe. It is always good to explore the world, especially at young age.

Last but not least, Jen, delivered her C10 speech entitled "GDPR" (個資法). She provided an informative speech about the new regulation in Europe of protecting personal information. I did not expect that if I e-mail to someone with a European counterparty in the CC loop without the consent of this European, I will be fined for revealing the personal information. I guess we all need to check the GDPR more and be more careful. And thank Jen to remind us about the new regulation in Europe.
