Tonight, we invited DTM Prasad Sovani to share how to “Create Leaders by Design.” Prasad is a corporate trainer and economist. He served as district governor for District 41 in India. He loves couchsurfing and enjoys the travel in Taiwan and all around the world. In order to create leaders by design and enhance the sense of belonging, Prasad gave us useful suggestions as below. Thank you, Prasad.

- Give chance to members as leader
- Invite other club leaders to join and share challenges
- Watch international speech contest together
- Join district or area activities and know more Toastmaster friends

Our new member Teresa Tsai delivered her Ice Breaker speech. Teresa works in a travel agent. She used interesting explanation to share the differences between tour leader and tour guide. For example, tour leader is like a mother and tour guide is like a babysitter to take care of the tourists. From Teresa’s speech, we know more about her career, expectations, and what she is striving to achieve the goal. Welcome on board, Teresa.

Are you always late? Oscar Ge, the humorous contest potential winner, told us his “Infinity War.” Oscar missed many important moments because of being late. He missed the best Toastmaster outing, graduation photo, examinations in dream and reality, his Miss. right in the school, and even the birth for rich career. Hope Oscar can conquer being late and will not regret anymore.

Bella Chuang, the Best Speaker tonight, shared how to “Have a Safe Flight.” Bella elaborated an oxygen mask and life vest to demonstrate how and why we should follow the safety instructions. She made good use of the accessories. Her movement and gesture shows she is a professional flight attendant. Thank you for giving us the informative speech. Good job, Bella.
